

KAMIRAI

HARNESS THE DIVINE THUNDER

WHITEPAPER V2

$KAMIRAI · BNB Smart Chain 論より証拠

A meme with the discipline of a samurai

Kamirai ($KAMIRAI) is a community token on the BNB Smart Chain, forged in the spirit of Raijin, the god of thunder. It carries the energy of a meme, but it is built on the two things most meme coins never had: a relentless deflationary engine, and a real product that creates demand.

Proof over promises

Our motto is 論より証拠. Everything that matters, the supply, the burn, the contract, can be verified by anyone on chain.

Deflation by design

Supply only shrinks. Nearly half of all KAMIRAI is already gone forever, and the burn continues.

Utility that pays back

Kyorai, our own exchange, turns real trading activity into constant buying and burning of KAMIRAI.

Most meme coins die the same way

They launch on hype, they have no use, and the supply never stops growing. When the excitement fades there is nothing underneath, so the chart returns to zero.

No utility

A picture and a promise. Nothing that creates ongoing demand once the first wave of buyers is gone.

No scarcity

Endless supply and hidden team wallets quietly dilute every holder.

The Kamirai answer

A shrinking, verifiable supply meeting real, recurring demand from a working exchange. Scarcity plus utility, not noise.

Built for holders, not insiders

Presale

Fair entry

The majority of supply is sold to the community through the presale, priced to reward early conviction.

46.6%

Burned

Nearly half of all supply is already destroyed on chain. The float keeps shrinking.

Locked

Team vesting

The team allocation is small and vested over time, aligning the founders with long term holders.

The design is simple and honest. A large, fairly distributed community float, a tiny vested team share, and a treasury whose only job is to buy KAMIRAI on the open market and burn it. Every mechanism points the same direction: fewer tokens over time.

The engine underneath: buy, and burn

Hype fades. Mathematics does not. Out of 888,888,888,888 tokens, more than 414 billion are already gone, sent to a dead address no one can ever touch. That is over 46% of everything, removed forever, and anyone can verify it on BscScan in under a minute.

414B+

Tokens burned

Permanently destroyed on chain.

Ongoing

Not a one time event

Fees from the Kyorai exchange keep funding fresh buybacks and burns.

↓ Supply

Rising pressure

A shrinking supply meeting growing demand is the healthiest pressure a token can have.

Kyorai: the samurai exchange

Kyorai (kyorai.com and kyorai.io) is our own non custodial exchange, and it is the beating heart of the Kamirai economy. It lets anyone swap hundreds of tokens at the best available price, straight from their own wallet, with nothing held in custody.

Best price routing

A smart aggregator scans the market and routes each trade for the best price across 400+ tokens.

Powered by KAMIRAI

KAMIRAI and a set of curated majors trade through Kyorai own fee router. KAMIRAI is the token of the house.

Own wallet, any device

Connect any wallet on mobile or desktop. Non custodial, fast, and built to feel effortless.

A swap is not just a swap on Kyorai. Every trade quietly feeds the fire that makes KAMIRAI rarer.

How Kyorai drives KAMIRAI value up

This is the part that changes everything. Kyorai does not just serve the community, it feeds the token. Every trade on the exchange earns a fee, and those fees are put to work buying KAMIRAI on the open market and burning it. The more the exchange is used, the more KAMIRAI disappears.

It is a loop that feeds itself. Growth in the exchange becomes constant buy pressure and constant burning for the token. The bigger Kyorai becomes, the rarer and more valuable KAMIRAI becomes. Utility and scarcity, working together, pushing the same direction: up.
